Clerk of the Superior Court's Office

August 6, 2008

Changes in Complex Civil Litigation Cases Effective Monday, September 8, 2008

The contract with LexisNexis to accept electronic filings in complex civil litigation cases will end on September 8, 2008. On that date, the electronic filing feature of the LexisNexis system will no longer be available for filing documents with the Superior Court in Maricopa County. Individual contracts that attorneys or firms have with LexisNexis for other services are not effected by this change.

eFiling in complex civil litigation cases will continue by filing with the Clerk's eFiling Online website or by filing with other authorized partners. eFiling options are available on the Clerk's website at: <http://www.clerkofcourt.maricopa.gov/efiling/default.asp>.

All civil cases designated as complex by the Civil Department Presiding Judge of the Superior Court in Maricopa County or his designee shall be governed by Superior Court Administrative Order 2007-140 and the Electronic Filing Guidelines established by that order. The Electronic Filing Guidelines are set forth at: <https://efiling.clerkofcourt.maricopa.gov/efilingguidelines>.

More information, including frequently asked questions about complex litigation, technical support contacts, training opportunities, Administrative Orders, and other features, are available on the Clerk's website at: <https://efiling.clerkofcourt.maricopa.gov/help.asp>.

Information about viewing public records online in individual cases is available on the Clerk's website at: <https://ecr.clerkofcourt.maricopa.gov/login.aspx>.
